Good even Tyler!

I am on the board of trustees for a rural church. For years we have had to submit water samples because we have been categorized as a PWS. We have had good samples for many years and we always comply with the current rule.

I am not sure if this is the forum to make some suggestions but here goes

1: if a religious organization(non profit org) has been in compliance and has had no issues with water testing for years, there should be a way that we will need to submit a sample only once a year.

2: Reclassify what is considered a PWS under rules.

Thanks for listening
